

Abraham Lincoln Anniversary
(1809-1865)

Top

Lincoln's home in Springfield, Illinois, as it looked when he bought it in 1844. In 1858 it was enlarged to two stories.

(Source: Illinois State Historical Library)

(58-14434)

Abraham Lincoln Anniversary
(1809-1865)

Bottom

Lincoln's home in Springfield, Illinois, in 1865, after his assassination, with remnants of mourning decorations. Lincoln had planned to return to Springfield for the practice of law after his second term as President of the United States had expired in 1869.

(Source: Illinois State Historical Library)

(58-14434)

C481274