

58-9976

Exterior view of Hull House, Chicago, Illinois, founded in 1889 by Jane Adams and Ellen Starr. This settlement house was the first of its kind in the United States. Its purpose was to provide a place where early immigrants with their families could find help in adjusting to a new life in a new country, and was the beginning of recognition of the contribution social work could make to a community. CUS 1881

CITIES - CHICAGO