NEW MORMON TEMPLE -- The newest Mormon temple rises majestically out of the woods in the Washington suburb of Kensington, Maryland. To be dedicated in November, the structure measures 88 meters from the ground to the tip of the Angel Moroni's trumpet (center spire). It is one of 16 serving the 3.3 million-member Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. The church was founded in the United States in 1830 and this is its first temple in the eastern half of the country. (74-1874)
