

C14532F4

COLECCIÓN FOTOS EMBAJADA EE.UU.

U.S. Department of State
Periodicals Service Section, INR, OII

NR-1017

A New American Church Patterned from the Past

3. In the new church of St. James at Clovis, New Mexico, in the American Southwest, thick adobe walls and huge roof beams of ponderosa pine have been used to construct an edifice patterned after the churches built there by Spanish missionaries two centuries ago.

(Photograph courtesy of New Mexico)

C14532F4

ARCHITECTURE : SPANISH ARCH. IN USA