

AMERICAN ISSUES FORUM -- Drawings depict the major themes of the American Issues Forum, a Bicentennial program that invites the entire population of the United States to engage in a serious dialogue about the country: what it is, how it got that way, where it is headed. Each segment features an issue that has affected American life from the beginning, that affects it today, and will probably affect it in the years to come. The project is sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration. (75-2276)
