20TH SHUTTLE CREW -- Crew members for Space Shuttle mission 51-I pose in the Shuttle mockup at the Johnson Space Center in Houston, Texas. In front are commander Joe Engle (left) and pilot Dick Covey. Behind them, from left, are mission specialists James van Hoften, Mike Lounge and William Fisher. During their planned eight-day mission aboard Shuttle Discovery, they will launch three satellites and attempt to repair and salvage the Leasat-3 satellite which was deployed by mission 51-D in April. Leasat-3 did not acheive a proper orbit when it's kick motor failed to ignite. Mission 51-I is the 20th flight of a Space Shuttle.
