

LOVELL IN 'LIFEBOAT' -- Apollo-13 commander James Lovell works in the lunar module during the flight back from the Moon. The spacemen used the unit as a "lifeboat" after an explosion in the service module April 13 reduced the power supply in the command ship and forced a cancellation of the lunar landing.

(70-1311)

