

MOONMEN IN QUARANTINE -- Apollo-14 astronauts Stuart Roosa, Alan Shepard and Edgar Mitchell (from left) gaze out the window of their mobile quarantine van aboard the recovery carrier USS New Orleans. They splashed down in the South Pacific near Samoa on February 9 to end their highly successful nine-day lunar voyage. Plans called for them to remain in isolation for about three weeks

6235543
(71-855)

