

PRESSURE TEST -- Alan Bean, Skylab-2 commander, is tested in a lower body pressure chamber aboard the recovery ship. The three returning crewmen wore lower body pressure suits during the re-entry and splashdown to assist their hearts, weakened after 59 days in weightlessness, in maintaining adequate blood circulation. (73-2257)

