

BREASTSTROKE CHAMPION -- John Hencken of Santa Clara, California, takes a gulp of air during the 100-meter breaststroke event at the National Swimming Championships in Concord, California. The Stanford University junior set new world records in both the 100- and 200-meter breaststroke distances. His times of 1 minute 03.88 seconds and 2:18.21 broke marks he set during the preliminary competition. (74-1857)

C25511F3

