U.S. OLYMPIC SOCCER PERFORMERS

Thirty-four of the United States top amateur soccer players recently battled for 15 places on the 1956 U. S. Olympic soccer team in a hard fought game at St. Louis. With the participants divided into teams from the East and West, the game ended in a 1-1 tie.

East defenders in dark jerseys break up play by white-shirted West forward in front of goal. Players are, from left: Goal tender Ronald Coder, Philadelphia; John Carden, San Francisco; Bill Conterio and Ed Murphy, both of Chicago; and Al Marina, New York City. The last three were picked for the U.S. Olympic squad and the other two were chosen as alternates. Some players from western cities played on the East squad because they were on the U. S.
