

COLECCIÓN FOTOS EMBAJADA EE.UU.

Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter, first U.S. man in orbit, pauses in his rigorous training while wearing the pressure suit designed to keep him alive in outer space. Pure oxygen is pumped into the air-conditioned, air-tight suit which is pressurized when the facepiece is closed.

(Photo No. 61-12952. Accompanies "First U.S. Man in Orbit" packet.)

196

7 de audio. —
(en la lengua suya)

M. SCOTT CARPENTER