

NEW MEMORIAL DEDICATED TO FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

AUG. 24, 1961

WARM SPRINGS, Georgia -- Perhaps the simplest room in the Little White House is President Roosevelt's bedroom which he also used as a study in which he transacted much of the world's business. He died here on April 12, 1945. The unpretentious home, from whose original plans Mr. Roosevelt removed features he considered too elaborate, tells much of the nature of the man who played such an important role in national and world history.
