White House on Wheels

1. President Harry S. Truman (center), his daughter, Margaret, and Senator Alben Barkley (now Vice President of the United States) on the rear platform of U.S. No. 1, the private railroad car in which the President of the United States travels. The picture was taken at Union Station in Washington, D.C., the nation's capital, in September 1948, before the beginning of a transcontinental Presidential campaign trip.
