

C3S1371

CENTRAL AMERICAN POLICY -- President Ronald Reagan confers with Vice President George Bush (center) and Henry Kissinger (right) after naming Mr. Kissinger as chairman of a bipartisan commission on Central America. Also present at the policy meeting in the Oval Office of the White House in Washington are Secretary of State George Shultz and White House chief of staff James Baker (backs to camera). Mr. Kissinger served as Secretary of State in both the Nixon and Ford Administrations. (83-2286-C)