

CBS13F4

NATO REVIEW -- Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger (right) stops at the White House in Washington after returning from a five-day trip to England, West Germany and Italy. He reported on the meetings of the defense ministers of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty Organizations countries, which he attended in Bonn. From left are: James Baker, chief of staff; Edwin Meese, counselor to the President; Vice President George Bush and President Ronald Reagan. They met in the family quarters.

(81-1166-C)