U.S. CANDIDATES RETURN TO POSTS FOLLOWING NOMINATIONS AT NATIONAL CONVENTIONS

19 AGO. 1960
