

8-8: The grave of President Roosevelt is in the Hyde Park rose garden bordered by 100-year-old hemlock hedges. Floral tributes are still received from the people of the world who accepted Roosevelt as the spokesman of their desire for a life of freedom. (61-2351P)

(Picture Story No. 265. This photograph was made at the Hyde Park, New York, home of the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt, 32nd President of the United States. The home is a national shrine, the buildings being open to the public, and the Roosevelt grave is in the rose garden. This birthplace of the man who became a symbol of freedom to many people of the world has attracted half a million visitors yearly. See accompanying text.)
