

C1551F1

THE CELEBRATION BEGINS -- President Gerald Ford officially launches the three-day Bicentennial observance with a July 2 ceremony instituting a round-the-clock 76-hour public display of the Declaration, the Constitution and other cherished documents at the National Archives in Washington. With Chief Justice Warren Burger (right) and Speaker of the House of Representatives Carl Albert, they represented the three branches of government: Executive, Judicial and Legislative.

C1551F1

(76-1620-C)