In the United States, graduate education -- laying stress on original research by students and teachers -- usually begins after four years of collegiate study. The graduate student is required to attend advanced classes and seminars and to conduct independent research. As shown by these pictures made at the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland, -- a pioneer in graduate education -- few fields of knowledge and few dark corners of human ignorance escape the scholar's probing interest.

8-15 Monitoring an around-the-clock experiment on a Van de Graaff accelerator, graduate physics students play Mozart quartets at 1:40 a.m. Because the device needs periodic observations and adjustments throughout the night, three friends help the experimenter keep awake by playing chamber music transcribed for clarinet.
