

AEROBEE-HI ROCKET ASSEMBLY — U.S. Naval Research Laboratory scientists assemble the electronics equipment in an Aerobee-Hi rocket at the White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico. The rocket is used for upper-atmosphere research flights. In a recent test, the Aerobee-Hi carried a payload of eight optical telescopes to an altitude of 135 miles for measurements of celestial ultraviolet radiation. (60-9169)

23 JUN. 1960

SCIENCE - ASTRONAUTICS (RESEARCH)