

A physician monitors the physical condition of an Astronaut in orbit to assure his safety. Radio signals from the Mercury spacecraft automatically register on the instruments observed by the doctor. He is particularly interested in the Astronaut's temperature, breathing and pulse rates, and oxygen supply.

(Photo No. 61-12947. Accompanies "First U.S. Man in Orbit" packet.)

61

61 v
alto