

C7334871

COLECCIÓN FOTOS EMBAJADA EE.UU.

The recovery phase of water egress is an important part of the Apollo 12 crew training. Here, an astronaut is being helilifted in a specially designed net after being picked up from the life rafts outside the command module floating in the water. PHOTO FROM IPS - SCI-3274; Same as 69-3635.

