GEMINI-5 ASTRONAUTS IN MALAGASY -- U.S. astronauts Gordon Cooper (left) and Charles Conrad wave from an open truck as they ride from the airport into Tananarive, capital city of the Republic of Malagasy. They arrived September 21 for a two-day visit, part of their six-nation goodwill tour. At an airport ceremony, Conrad related that both he and Cooper had viewed the island from space and added, "We both admired its beauty without any realization we would be so fortunate as to see it from the ground."
